Fig. 9.1 A particle in a one-dimensional region with impenetrable walls. Its potential energy is zero between $x = 0$ and $x = L$, and rises abruptly to infinity as soon as it touches the walls.